THE OPPORTUNITY

Overview:

Founded in 1935 - Logan College of Chiropractic/University Programs is more than just a collection of great faculty and the latest technology – it is a learning community that strives to provide students with the most optimal way for them to become respected professionals. Named after the College's founder and first president, Hugh B. Logan, D.C., Logan College of Chiropractic/University Programs was founded to provide an intensive and thorough training for students in chiropractic and related healthcare professions, including a full knowledge of the structure and function of the human body. Logan strives to provide the facilities and environment that will produce graduates who are professionals interested in rendering a valuable service to mankind and who possess an appreciation for the value of giving back to their professional and civic communities. This commitment lives in the daily experiences of students, faculty and staff.

At Logan, students are prepared to enter the healthcare marketplace with all the knowledge and skills required to successfully play an important role in providing responsible health care for their communities. Here's why:

- Logan's Model of Health is a philosophy that blends tradition and innovation. Logan has established its reputation in the profession as a school founded on principles that offer the consumer viable healthcare choices.
- Committed to Community Service and Leadership – Logan graduates have served and continue to serve in recognized leadership positions at the state and national levels as well as giving back to their communities.
- Innovative clinical training that demonstrates “best practices” within health care continues to be a hallmark of Logan College of Chiropractic/University Programs' educational experience with dedicated faculty utilizing evidence-based research and information combined with the latest “smart room” technology to facilitate student learning.
- Named by MSNBC as “One of America's Prettiest Campuses”, Logan's 112-acre campus is unparalleled in the chiropractic profession.
- Providing a 12:1 student/faculty ratio, Logan offers a tuition rate that continues to be the best value in the chiropractic profession.
- The doctor of chiropractic degree program of Logan College of Chiropractic is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of the Council on Chiropractic Education. The institution is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. Both accrediting agencies are recognized by the US Department of Education.

- Maintain enrollment growth; develop new academic programming (including online educational offerings and increasing use of technology in education)
- Maintain Logan's regional and programmatic accreditations with continued emphasis on student learning objectives, assessment, and implementation of best practices
- Assure the quality of clinical training and patient care while maintaining the fiscal health of the health centers
- Promote the success of Logan to external communities
- Enhance external funding sources
- Promote research
- Enhance relationship building and alliances to promote the vitality of the chiropractic and health sciences professions in a changing state, national, and international healthcare arena

Qualifications:

- Doctor of Chiropractic degree (required); additional terminal degrees preferred
- Senior leadership experience in higher education
- Experience with budget development and fiscal management
- Experience in institutional advancement (fund raising/grants/other)
- Knowledge of contemporary issues facing chiropractic education, chiropractic healthcare, broad healthcare, and higher education
- Commitment to Logan's mission, community, unique character and culture
- Active participation in state and/or national associations and experience in collaborating with governmental bodies

Desired personal qualities:

- Integrity
- Visionary
- Strategic thinker
- Performance manager
- Visible
- Decisive
- Influencer
- Politically astute
- Committed to communication (internally and externally)
- Listener/collaborator

Why consider the opportunity?

- Reputation: Logan College of Chiropractic/University Programs is a premier chiropractic and health sciences educator; with enrollment exceeding 1,000 students. Logan enjoys debt free status and has also been awarded federal grants for infrastructure, technology, and research.
- Culture: Logan blends the perfect balance of tradition with innovation while being supported by a dedicated faculty. The campus is literally unparalleled in the chiropractic profession. Located in suburban Chesterfield, Mo., just 30 minutes west of downtown St. Louis, Logan's 112-acre campus has been named by MSNBC as "One of America's Prettiest Campuses."
- Opportunity: The Logan President has the potential to be a leading voice in the discussions surrounding broader issues facing chiropractic education, chiropractic practice, and broad healthcare.
- Lifestyle: The greater St. Louis area boasts low cost of living, excellent public and private schools, dynamic colleges and universities, as well as a vibrant culture including varied sports, arts, dining, and entertainment.
