THE ORGANIZATION

About Saybrook University:

Saybrook University is the world's premier institution for humanistic studies, scholarship and practice. Founded in 1971 by a group of prominent scholars and psychologists, including Abraham Maslow, Rollo May, and Carl Rogers it has long been recognized as the intellectual center of humanistic psychology and has since become a noted thought leader in areas including Organizational Systems, Human Science, Mind-Body Medicine and Interdisciplinary Studies.

One of the first American universities to offer graduate education at a distance for working professionals, Saybrook offers graduate level courses that combine online education with in-person classes, intensive seminars, and conferences. A nonprofit university composed of four schools including the School of Organizational Leadership and Transformation, the School of Mind-Body Medicine, the School of Clinical Psychology, and the School of Psychology and Interdisciplinary Inquiry. Saybrook students are passionate and dedicated to inspiring transformational change in their communities—and the world.

Saybrook University is an affiliate of TCS Education System, one of the largest nonprofit education systems of its kind in the United States. With annual revenues that exceed $140M, other TCS Ed colleges include The Chicago School of Professional Psychology, the Santa Barbara & Ventura Colleges of Law, Pacific Oaks College and Children's School, and the Dallas Nursing Institute. Since 2009, TCS Education System has pioneered mission-driven collaborations with educators committed to creating agents of change who impact the world. The Saybrook University President will be a member of the TCS Executive Council. www.saybrook.edu

Oakland, California

To say Oakland is eclectic and diverse would barely skim the surface of this melting pot. You're just as likely to bump into a scholar, a federal judge, a tech entrepreneur and a civil rights activist in a one-block area. Downtown, just five years ago, a swath of the area's Victorian and Art Deco storefronts were vacant and in need of repair. Today, they are renovated and lit up with unique shops selling Japanese barware, clothing and art galleries. Oakland isn't about just business, it is a vital crossroads where all the cultures meet.

The 12-city block City Center complex in the midst of downtown is in the heart of the city, with a conference center, hotel, parking garage, restaurants, racquet club and BART in the basement. Free noontime concerts are held throughout the year.

If you want to escape the city for star-gazing, stand-up paddle boarding and hikes through redwood forests you can do that too. Or get up close and personal with more than 450 species at the Oakland Zoo, bring out your inner science geek at Chabot Space & Science Center, and learn why Walt Disney was inspired to create Disneyland after a visit to Children's Fairyland.

The unique character and charm of the neighborhoods in and around Oakland provide upscale to ethnically diverse communities while many commuters appreciate the family-friendly suburbs.

You can see why many of the attributes that make Oakland a model city also make the city a great place to work, live and visit!
