The Institution

Fielding Graduate University is an accredited nonprofit leader in graduate education, combining face-to-face and online learning. Its global, distributed community of professionals is dedicated to lifelong learning, social justice and innovation, and advancement for individuals, organizations, communities, and society. Fielding offers quality degrees and courses for professionals living and working anywhere in the world. Fielding faculty members represent a breadth of scholarship and practice within the fields of psychology and leadership.

- 45-year-old institution with 1000 students, 187 faculty, and a faculty-student ratio of 6:1.
- Offers graduate programs in psychology, leadership, and education.
- Ranked a Best Value School by University Research & Review in 2015.
- Carnegie Foundation designee for community engagement--the only graduate school in the country to be so honored.

Fielding's founders envisioned a nationally recognized graduate school based on two notions:

- 1) Changing demographics were altering the world of higher education. The founders speculated that students seeking advanced degrees would be mid-career adults who wanted to enhance already well-established academic and professional skills; who would be committed to effecting a mid-life career change; and who would be interested in being part of a lifelong-learning community.
- 2) Adults learn differently than adolescents and young adults. The traditional pedagogical method of education--active teacher, passive learner--would not be appropriate to this new experiment. To accommodate and capitalize on the learning styles of its students, Fielding developed a rigorous, supportive learning model that today remains flexible, adult-centered, self-directed, practice-oriented, global, and competence-based.

For more than 40 years, Fielding has applied these ideas to educating passionate, motivated students--and transforming them into gratified, successful graduates who go on to make positive changes in their organizations and communities.
